Selectmen's Meeting

JANUARY 2, 1985 - by VIRGINIA ARRAL
 LEISURE SHORES HOMEOWNER QUESTIONS
 CEASE AND DESIST ORDER

Robert E. and Mary I. Ringuette of 21 Dupont Drive in the Leisure Shores area met with Selectman last week to discuss a December 10th Cease and Desist Order placed by the present Building Inspector, David Crooks, on their house.

They were represented by Attorney Michael O'Brien, who is also the Town Finance Committee Chairman. O'Brien said he hesitated to represent Mr. Ringuette even on a temporary basis because of his town office but realized it was an unpaid position and would create no conflict of interest.

Attorney O'Brien explained Ringuette was led to believe verbally by Scott Armbruster, the former Building Inspector, that an occupancy permit was in order and that he could live in the house. He said a temporary permit was given after Armbruster checked the house and told Ringuette to board up glass doors that could pose a hazard in a storm. O'Brien said the town is now enforcing standards that were not so strict before and his client is unsure of his position in that he was led to believe one thing and now this happens (the Cease and Desist Order). O'Brien said he will set the wheels in motion for Ringuette's regular attorney to plead an appeal to the Town Board of Appeals.

Selectmen Chairman John DeCosta said a letter was received November 30th from the Federal Emergency Management Agency which enforces the Flood Plain Zoning regulations. The letter cited the Ringuette house as "having an enclosed space below the base flood elevation in a V zone. A set of garage doors has been installed in both the front and rear of the enclosed space to act as breakaway panels. As a general rule, FEMA does not accept garage doors as breakaway wall sections for compliance. The parallel wall construction of this structure also diverges from acceptable practices. Most of the wall on one side has been built out to support the overhang of the structure. As a result a larger surface area of the foundation is exposed to wave impacts. This structure is also extremely vulnerable to coastal storm damage and would be subject to high flood insurance rates."

According to the building inspector's order Ringuette is in violation of the acceptable construction standards for building in coastal flood hazard areas, specifically that the garage doors do not constitute breakaway panels and must be removed. Ringuette contended Armbruster told him the garage doors would be sufficient and Ringuette feels he does not want to bear the cost of removing the doors and replacing them with something else. A December 20th check by the building inspector showed no corrective measures taken.

Mr. and Mrs. Ringuette were residents of South Attleboro when they received a Special Permit in July 1982 from the Board of Appeals to expand and combine using their property on Dupont Drive as a marina, with certain conditions. It was brought out at last Wednesday's meeting that Ringuette was keeping more than the allowed number of boats on his property. Attorney O'Brien noted that the boats were the personal property of Ringuette and not stored there as a marina. He added that this aspect will be brought out at the appeal hearing with the town Zoning Appeals Board.

Scott Armbruster commented that before Selectmen issue a Cease and Desist Order the people involved should be brought in to try to settle the problem. "In my judgement, the garage overhead door would be more acceptable than a concrete block wall. All plans and specifications were drawn and designed by a structural engineer. A building inspector in a small town can't be expected to know more than a structural engineer. We try to watch for obvious problems. It certainly wasn't Ringuette's fault as he thought he had an occupancy permit."

David Crooks explained the state building department says the garage-type doors must be removed and that they won't breakaway. The house must comply. The temporary occupancy permit is good for 30 to 90 days and is now overdue, since the Ringuettes moved in August. According to the state building inspector the order must remain in force.

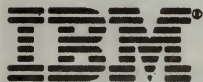

Selectman James Huntoon urged Ringuette to make every effort to comply with the original Special Permit step by step to show good faith before going back to the Board of Appeals. Huntoon commented on the problem on storing more than the required number of boats. "Your original permit was based on your using six acres for a marina -- now that you have subdivided, you now have only four acres for the marina."

Huntoon informed Ringuette that the cost of Flood Plain Insurance would be extremely costly if its regulations are not followed. "In fact," Huntoon said, "you might have to take out a mortgage just to pay the insurance. It would be less expensive to make the structural changes required than to pay the insurance."

In other business, Selectmen met with Steve Grossman, representative from American Cable-systems TV on the problem of the cable not working on New Year's Day. Grossman explained a piece of trunk cable kinked and stopped the signal in Mattapoisett. This seemed to be the only area affected. It took awhile to find just where the kink was before it could be repaired. Once it was found the repairmen did a great job of tackling the problem.

Grossman said it certainly was poor timing to have the outage occur on the big football game day. He estimated the service was out from 9:45 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. "We certainly do apologize to everybody," Grossman said.

Huntoon commented that up to now we have had no problems with shutdowns and we are pleased with the service.

Selectman Frank Suzan suggested to Grossman that he inform the police department of any major problem as the department received many telephone calls inquiring as to what had happened to the cable reception.

The Mattapoisett Public Library was recently presented with new art work by Mattapoisett artist David Boyce. Working under a grant by the Mattapoisett Arts Lottery Council, the artist has created drawings of wildflowers that are indigenous to Mattapoisett. Done in Pen & ink and watercolor, the drawings are finely detailed and exquisitely colored. The three groups of drawings await suitable framing, at which point they will go on display to the general public.

David Boyce has a diverse artistic background. He has been a set designer for the Gateway Players in Wareham and has directed works for both the Gateway Players and the Marion Art Center. He is a film and theater

The movie emphasizes the role people have played in this recovery. It also provides a detailed look at the natural history of these magnificent fish-eating birds of prey.

Alan Poole is currently a researcher at the Marine Biological Laboratory in Woods Hole and has studied coastal Ospreys in the northeast and in south Florida during the last eight years. His current work concentrates on the Ospreys breeding in southeastern Massachusetts - behavior, population growth and effects on pollutants. This work has been supported in part by the Islands Foundation of Marion and by the Dartmouth Natural Resources Trust, South Dartmouth.

DYNAMITE FISH

Wild East Underground

Editorial, DCJ

One hundred years ago, more or less, there was no law west of the Pecos. Now, the United States seems to have completed a cycle. I'm sure most of us must have wondered, at the very end of this season of joy and goodwill toward men, how we would have reacted, if locked in a speeding car under the city of New York, we were confronted by four young hoodlums, 3 of whom carried lethal weapons (screwdrivers sharpened at the point) demanding money. Like good citizens, we would have had two options. We would either have handed over our possessions or else we would have died like compliant victims should - perhaps both.

A "vigilante" is a victim turned inside out. No wonder fellow New Yorkers had such a strange reaction to a fellow citizen who broke the law by arming himself and turning the illegal weapon on his assailants. Most approved. They walk in the same moccasins. They know the same danger every time they walk the streets or enter a public conveyance.

As we take stock of our blessings at the beginning of the brand new year, we can't help but be thankful that we don't have to live or work in the major cities of the United States with all of its cultural advantages: museums, theaters, concert halls, libraries, etc. etc. etc. We can walk anywhere night or day in any part of our world surrounded by natural beauty with no thought of arming ourselves against attack and slight danger of being charged with a major crime after an encounter with strangers.

Smith (CT), Wilton (CT), Hopkinton (NH), Colchester (VT), Classical (RI), Lisbon (ME), and Falmouth (ME). Leading scorers for ORR were: Jeff Humphrey, Jeff Starecheski and John Viveiros.

The ORR Math Team has tied for first place in the New England Mathematics League after two meets this season. ORR is tied with Canton High School and leads 245 other schools from throughout New England. This is the first time since competing in the league (6 years) that ORR has been ranked so high. Leading scorers for ORR were Mike Burnett, Jeff Humphrey, and Jeff Starecheski. According to Mr. Cameron, advisor, "I was a bit disappointed in the results of our team in the meet (ORR dropped a point from meet number 1) until I heard about the scores from other schools in the league. I only hope we can keep near the top throughout the season -- it'll be very difficult."

New Chamber Orchestra

A new chamber orchestra of 35 instrumentalists -- the largest of its kind in the region -- is being formed by Southeastern Massachusetts University to bring quality music not only to the University but to schools throughout southeastern Massachusetts, according to SMU Professor Josef Cobert, its founder and artistic director.

Auditions will be held on January 22nd. Musicians from the community are invited to try out between 3 and 5 p.m. in Room 108 of SMU's College of Visual and Performing Arts (Group VI) Building.

Openings are available for the following instruments: violin, viola, cello, bass, flute, oboe, clarinet, bassoon, French horn, trumpet, trombone, tuba, and percussion instruments.

The orchestra will begin rehearsals in early February and will make its debut in a March concert to celebrate the 300th anniversary of J.S. Bach's birthday.

This collection, maintained by the University of Rhode Island Marine Advisory Service, is a bibliography of commonly-read magazine articles dealing with marine themes. The material, organized into over 100 categories, covers such topics as waves, pollution, various animal phyla, maritime history and lighthouses. Included are articles from magazines such as Oceanus, Sea Frontiers, National Geographic, Audubon, Smithsonian, Natural History, and Current. The Lloyd Center's growing periodicals collection includes nearly all issues listed.

THE GREAT STORM WINDOW ALTERNATIVE- INTERIOR STORM WINDOWS.

Up to 30 %* of your energy loss is lost through your windows. The traditional method of stopping this energy loss is concentrated on the outside. This is not the best way to deal with the problem.

That's why The Great Storm Window Alternative was developed. By adding this system to your home or business, you can significantly reduce your window energy loss. We think it's going to make traditional storms obsolete.

The system works somewhat like your refrigerator door. It is designed to form a magnetic, airtight seal. A thermal barrier between hot and cold air is created between the windows. Exterior storms don't offer you the same efficiency.

Better yet, this system costs less and works better than replacement glazed windows and traditional storms.

The Great Storm Window Alternative—it's the system that's on your side.

Currently running on Broadway, Brighton Beach Memoirs has captured three of the nation's most prestigious theatre awards: The New York Drama Critics' Circle Award, the Outer Circle Theatre Award, and a Tony Award for "Best Direction" by Gene Saks. On its national tour the play has generated widespread audience enthusiasm playing to packed houses night after night.
Critics from coast to coast have also hailed the production as Neil Simon's finest, funniest play to date. Douglas Watt of the New York "Daily News" states, "Brighton Beach Memoirs is Neil Simon's richest play. The disarmingly rambling family comedy is also in many respects the funniest and truest, and consequently the most affecting, of all the author's works." Simon's other Broadway hits include: Chapter Two, California Suite,

The Odd Couple, Plaza Suite, Barefoot in the Park, The Last of the Red Hot Lovers, Prisoner of Second Avenue, They're Playing Our Song, and many others.
Brighton Beach Memoirs is about many things, but mostly about the job and pain of growing up smart, sensitive and aware. Simon's protagonist is 15 year old Eugene Morris Jerome, a would-be writer who keeps a constant journal of the activities of the eccentric household. Of course, Eugene would rather be a baseball player with the New York Yankees, but will be satisfied, if the baseball job fails, to be a writer. The Jerome family consists of his mother and father, his 18 year old brother, his mother's widowed sister and her two daughters, all living in cramped quarters in a beach area of Brooklyn, New York.

Concentrating on two consecutive early Wednesday evenings, Simon has constructed the play as a series of vignettes, all interlocked with the overall theme of survival during the depression. The various problems deal with thwarted ambition, late-blooming independence, physical illness and personal dishonor --- small, everyday problems that ultimately change these people's lives.

The national tour is directed by Tony Award winner Gene Saks who has assembled an outstanding cast which includes (in alphabetical order): Skye Bassett, Patrick Dempsey, Brian Drillinger, Richard Greene, Lynn Milgrim, Rocky Parker and Lisa Waltz. The setting has been designed by David Mitchell, with costumes by Patricia Zipprodt and lighting by Tharon Musser, Brighton Beach Memoirs is presented under the producing aegis of Emanuel Azenberg, Wayne Rogers and Radio City Music Hall Productions in association with Centre Group/Ahmanson.

Tickets are $19.50, $17.50 and $15.50, Visa, Mastercard and American Express accepted. For ticket reservations call the Zeiterion Theatre Box Office at 994-2900.

Experts agree that one in four girls and one in seven boys will be sexually abused before age 18. There is no doubt that with the increased education in this area, medical professionals will see a dramatic increase of sexual assault cases. This seminar will discuss the scope of the problem, how it maniare, and how medical professionals can best approach the problem.

MASFAA TOLL-FREE STUDENT FINANCIAL AID HOT-LINE

Senator William G. MacLean, Jr. (D-Fairhaven) has been advised that the Massachusetts Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators, Inc. (MASFAA) will be sponsoring its eighth annual Massachusetts toll-free student financial aid hot-line from January 15 to February 15. The hot-line is being offered to provide students and parents with information on how to apply for college financial assistance.

The hot-line service will operate from 5:00 to 9:00 p.m. and the number is: 1-800-325-2523. Last year MASFAA answered over 2,000 financial aid questions concerning information which facilitates the application process of students who pay for their post-secondary education with financial aid funds. "Without up-to-date and timely information, the financial aid process can be confusing", says Paul Combe, Boston College's director of financial assistance and MASFAA President.

St. Luke's Hospital

David P. Cameron was elected chairman of St. Luke's Hospital of New Bedford and president of St. Luke's Health Foundation of Greater New Bedford at the hospital's 100th annual meeting, held December 11th. Mr. Cameron follows Glen F. Johnson who stepped down as hospital chairman after serving four years in that post.

Mr. Cameron was elected to St. Luke's Board of Trustees in 1976. He has served as vice chairman since 1980 and is currently chairman of the Building Committee and the Long Range Planning Committee. Mr. Cameron is well-known as the past president of Morse Cutting Tools from where he retired. He has served the community in many capacities including president of Junior Achievement, trustee of the New Bedford Five Cents Savings Bank, past chairman of the United Way Industrial Division and past director of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Cameron and his wife, the former Elinor Clarke, live in Mattapoisett. They have four children and nine grandchildren.

Officers elected to serve with Mr. Cameron are James P. Honohan, William L. Jenney, M.D., and Elizabeth O. LaStaiti, Vice Chairmen; Joyce Y. Passos, Ph.D., Secretary; and John G. Hodgson, Treasurer. New members elected to serve on the board of trustees are Tobey L. Gaspar, Glen F. Johnson, Robert McCarter, Ellen M. Shepherd, Clifford H. Tuttle, and Harold W. Woodcock, M.D.

In his annual message to the trustees, Chairman Johnson noted that he was pleased that the recommendations he presented last year had been carried out by the board and administration. Specifically he stressed the corporate reorganization plan which was adopted last year; the opening of the SurgiCenter; the establishment of a marketing department this coming January; the reduction in bad debt and free care expenses without adversely affecting the hospital's mission of providing medical care to all in need; and the $100,000 annual appeal goal that is ongoing to raise funds for the SurgiCenter. All these programs have helped to place the hospital in a better position to meet the "Challenge of Change" occurring in the health care industry, he noted. Future issues that were mentioned included a new emphasis and expansion of the Visiting Nurse and Home Health Aide services, and determining the hospital's role in relationship to emerging health care programs such as HMO's.
